

War Council To Sponsor Bond Queen

Voting Will Take Place
May 4, 5 For Nominees

Reviving the College tradition of having a May Queen, the War Council, as their contribution to the Bond Bazaar to be held in the Sunken Garden May 6, will sponsor the election of a Bond Queen, whose choice will be determined by the amount of money in War Stamps and Bonds bought in that particular coed's name.

Today and tomorrow there will be two tables in the Cafeteria where nominations for a senior girl for Bond Queen may be made. This privilege is extended to all students without charge. Later this week the War Council will count the nominations. Along with the four highest nominated by the student body, the War Council will also nominate one more senior girl.

On May 4 and 5 there will be a booth at the Wigwam where stamps will be sold. Each purchaser of stamps or bonds has the privilege of voting for one of the five coeds nominated, and the winner will not be determined by the number of votes, but by the amount of money in Bonds and Stamps bought in her name.

May 6 voting will be continued in the Sunken Garden, from 2 to 4 P. M. that evening, the Bond Queen will be named and crowned by a yet undesignated person.

Instead of having a booth, the War Council thought that by this means they would promote the sale of Bonds and Stamps, and still keep one of the traditions inaugurated when coeds were first admitted to William and Mary. The War Council asks that all students, both men and women, nominate a senior girl in the cafeteria, and wishes to remind the students that nominations are absolutely free; only the voting will require the purchase of one or more stamps or bonds.

Time: 8 P. M., Wednesday and Thursday.
Place: Phi Beta.
Event: Shaw's "Candida".

Phi Beta Kappa Initiates 8 Seniors; Haydn Will Address Chapter May 2

Educator Explains P. B. K. Program

Alpha of Virginia Chapter, Phi Beta Kappa, will hold its annual spring meeting and initiation Tuesday, May 2. At that time eight members of the senior class, will be initiated. These persons are:

Mary Prickett Carter, Madisonville, Kentucky; Mary Wilson Carver, Charleston, W. Va.; Anne Virginia Dixon, Norfolk, Va.; Nancy P. Eslin, Washington, D. C.; Richard Allen Neubauer, Wilmington, Delaware; Louis L. Newby, Jr., Norfolk, Va.; Norma Ritter, Alexandria, Va.; Barbara Sanford, Ben Avon Heights, Penna.

The initiation ceremony will take place in the Great Hall of the Sir Christopher Wren Building at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. At 6:15 dinner will be served to members and personal guests in the Bruton Parish Church. Local members of Sigma Xi, honorary scientific fraternity corre-

At the Last Minute

Members of the senior class who desire invitations for commencement are requested to leave their orders at once at the information desk in Marshall-Wythe Hall. No orders will be received after May first.

Application blanks for the Spars and Women's Land Army have been placed at the Information desk in Marshall-Wythe along with a list of addresses of the Supervisors of the Women's Land Army in each state.

Paper will be collected today by the city trucks, according to an announcement of the War Council. Dorm representatives should place bundles on the south side of Jamestown Road and sorority representatives should place their paper on the sidewalks of Richmond Road.

Tickets for "Candida" may be obtained at the box office in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The box office will be open from one o'clock until curtain time at eight o'clock on Wednesday and Thursday.

Y.W.C.A. Sponsors New Bond Bazaar

Bonds and stamps will again be the keynote of a colossal bazaar in the Sunken Garden. William and Mary's second Bond Bazaar sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. will be held on May 6 from 2 till 6 P. M.

Different organizations on campus will be represented in the celebration as they were in the one held in the fall. Plans are not definitely completed for anything but the part of the War Council. The Council will sponsor the crowning of the bond queen at the Bazaar.

W-M Theatre Closes Season With Presentation of "Candida"

Jose De Creft Gives Criticism Of Student Work

Famous Sculptor Says,
Study Life, Don't Copy It

By MARGE TALLE

"Life is the master; look at it and study it; but don't copy it," advised José de Creft, noted Spanish sculptor, as he chatted with students of the modeling class in the Fine Arts Department, Monday, April 24. With Miss Betty Bean, modeling instructor, acting as interpreter, de Creft criticized student work, using a mixture of English, French, and Spanish, and stopping every now and then to laugh and reassure those to whom his words had been especially harsh.

"Why do you not work more direct?" he asked, as he looked at a sculpture done in wood, after a plaste-line model. "If you work in clay first, you get the quality of clay rather than that of wood. You should work direct in the wood, maybe using drawings to help; but let the wood speak for itself. Have sympathy with the material as with a good friend."

De Creft went on to emphasize the importance of drawing. One should draw, draw, draw all the time, everything he sees. In this way, he gets a knowledge of form. Pure form is the important thing, he stressed throughout his criticism. In doing portraits, one should observe the all-over form. One should not strive for likeness, but for good sculpture reflecting the character of the model.

"You must either be ignorant, or know everything," he told one student as he observed her clay model. "You

Snyder, Carter Take Lead Roles In Final Production

By RONALD KING

Climaxing a brilliant and versatile season, the William and Mary Theatre will present George Bernard Shaw's delightful play, "Candida," on Wednesday and Thursday, April 26 and 27, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Sally Snyder, veteran of the College Theatre, plays the charming title role of Candida, and with this role, bows out of College dramatics, for she will graduate in June. Jack Carter, also a senior, will portray the part of Reverend James Morell, Candida's husband. Jack is best remembered for his stirring characterization of George Washington in "The Patriots." Osburn Wynkoop, the forceful James Monroe in "The Patriots," shows versatility in assuming the role of the shy, frail, adolescent poet, Eugene Marchbanks, in "Candida."

New Plans Formulated

B. Williams Heads Pt. System Setup

The Point System Committee, headed by Bill Williams, presented a plan to the Student Assembly at the last meeting. Because the proposed system involves a change in the Constitution, action on it has to be delayed until the next meeting. To Section 1 of Article VII of the By-Laws two additional sections are proposed to incorporate the new plan. Article VII, including the proposed changes, would read as follows:

Section 1. The Student Assembly shall have the power to recognize the formation of new clubs and organizations on campus.

A. New organizations must petition the Student Assembly for recognition.

B. Organizations which have not obtained recognition from the Student Assembly will not be allowed a place on the Social Calendar or representation in the College yearbook.

Section 2. The Student Assembly shall have the power to supervise all clubs and organizations of the campus.

A. There shall be an Interclub Council consisting of the following persons:

1. Presidents of all clubs and organizations.
2. The vice-president of the W.S.C.G.A.
3. A chairman elected by the Assembly from the junior or senior membership of the Assembly.
4. A secretary to be elected by and from the council and whose duties shall be to keep minutes of all council meetings and a record of the clubs and organizations in it.
5. The President of the Accounting Club shall act as comptroller of finances, keep a record of financial statements, and with the aid of the Accounting Club help other organizations to set up books and audit them.
6. The duties and powers of the Interclub Council shall be the following:

1. To hold three regular meetings a semester, the chairman having the power to call any additional meetings that are necessary.
2. To organize the club calendar.
3. To enforce club standards.
4. To submit a semester report to

Miss Althea Hunt, the director, has kept the cast moving at a rapid rate and has surmounted the interruption of rehearsals over the Spring vacation. The lady magician in the College's Land of Thespia has had to pull quite a few male rabbits out of her hat in order to maintain mixed casts throughout the season, and has done remarkably well with all her casting difficulties.

Mr. Jothm Boyt, the technician and designer, with the assistance of several students, has constructed a realistic stage set which typifies the rectory of a church. There is realism in this set, from the stained glass window.

Assemblymen To Be Elected Class Delegates Chosen April 28

Election of representatives to the Student Assembly will take place Friday, April 28, from 1 to 6 o'clock in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Three men and three women are to be chosen from each class.

Students vote only for representatives from their own class: i. e., students having been enrolled one or two full semesters vote for sophomore representatives, students with three or four full semesters vote for juniors, and students with five or six full semesters vote for seniors.

Men:

Senior men: Bill Anderson, Alfred Appell, John Helfrich, Lewis Keffer, Bob Lanahan, Jack Lawson.

Members of the Faculty and Administration and some friends from the city have been invited to bear this address and to meet Dr. Haydn at an informal reception in the Memorial Hall. While in Williamsburg, Dr. Haydn will be the house guest of President and Mrs. John E. Pomfret.

Dr. Haydn has announced the topic of his address as "The Love of Wisdom" and the Gentleman from Missouri." He plans to discuss practical phases of Phi Beta Kappa's program for maintaining the importance of the humanities in American education, which is so vital a question in higher education of the present time.

Benes Believes Russia Friend Of Pan-Slavism

Czech's Sentiment Is Anti-Communist

"After the war, Russia will be better understood. It will continue to develop along the lines it has followed from 1918-1941," was the keynote of the talk by Vojta Benes, former senator in Czechoslovakia, and brother of the president of the Czechoslovakian government in exile, when he spoke in Phi Beta Kappa Hall on April 17 under the auspices of the International Relations Club.

Mr. Benes, who declared after his lecture that he was "against communism in Czechoslovakia; not in Russia," first established himself as a democrat and then went on to declare that Czechoslovakia had ever since the Germans' "Drang Nach Osten" or drive to the east, looked to the Russians and pan-Slavism to save them from pan-Germanism. He quoted figures to prove the anti-Communism of the Czechoslovakians, but, he declared, the Czechoslovakians look to the Russian army as a liberator, not as an army to be feared.

Rapid Strides In Education

In showing the greatness of the Russian country, Benes cited the rapid strides in education which have been made. Today, he said, every child between 8 and 15 years of age is in a state-supported school. Factory conditions and wages are now at the level of the United States.

Under the Tsarist government of pre-1918, declared the senator, "The man was a slave of the Tsars; the woman was a slave of the man." Women had no right to education; they worked in dirty factories. Today they are given their rightful place and special homes are provided for future mothers with nurses and doctors.

Stalin Not Dictator

Benes declared that while Americans could not advocate a communist government, they must see that the Russians simply were not educated and prepared for democracy in 1918. Stalin is not a dictator, he said, since he is elected indirectly by the people. The entire system was painted as the only possible one for the Russians.

Russia was the only country ready to fight for the Czechs at Munich, according to Benes, and the Czechs remember this and trust the Russians. Expediency may demand unpleasant policies of the communists at present, but the Russians are "good-hearted, simple, and Christian" and they will be found cooperative at the end of the war.

I.R.C. Reception Follows

At the reception given by the I.R.C. following the lecture, Prickett Carter, president of the club, served refreshments of punch and cake. Mr. Benes answered particular questions in a direct and forceful manner. In explaining the differences between pan-Germanism and Pan-Slavism, he said the former was purely political, the latter wholly unpolitical.

Jack Carter, who plays Morell, the minister in "Candida", is a ministerial student.

Schools Announce Teacher Shortage

87 Teaching Jobs Open To Students

Shortage of teachers for positions in the public schools for next year is growing daily. Superintendents are now using approximately 1600 teachers in the State of Virginia who are not qualified for certificates for teaching positions. At present, Dr. George W. Armacost has in his office letters from superintendents of the following cities and counties requesting persons for teaching vacancies for next year:

Kingsport, Tenn; Conway, N. C.; Staunton, Va.; Suffolk, Va.; Hampton, Va.; Floyd County, Halifax County, Lunenburg County, Brunswick County, Norfolk County, Elizabeth City County, York County, and Warwick, County.

If candidates are available, it is possible to place approximately ten teachers of mathematics; five teachers of biological and physical sciences; ten teachers of English; three of Eng-

Men Qualified To Dean's List

The following men are qualified to Dean's List privileges according to the new standard of 33 quality points:

Charles S. Baker, III
Richard O. Bicks
Eric D. Brown
Robert H. Bryant
Leroy T. Canoles
Jerome E. Hyman
Benjamin B. Johnston
Louis K. Keefer
Richard M. Margolis
Robert Moseley
Eugene Purdum
Ennis Rees
Rollins Richardson
James Riley
Wallace Rowe
W. H. Saunders
Mark Waldo.

In addition to the foregoing, 12 men qualified for Dean's List privileges according to the old standard of 9 hours of B and no grade below C. The faculty has been provided with a supplementary list of these 12 additional men.

Royalists, Year Books Appear In Late May

Both the Royalist and the Colonial Echo are expected to be ready for distribution late next month. The Royalist, edited by Maureen Gothlin, will appear May 15. The editor has promised a high level of fiction, non-fiction, and poetical works; A.S.T.U. material and a colorful cover design will add to the magazine.

The Colonial Echo, somewhat slimmer due to the paper shortage, will be distributed late in May. Deedee Armer edited the yearbook and Winnie Gill acted as Business Manager.

lish and Latin; three of social studies; three of physical education; three of home economics, and from fifty to one hundred in elementary school subjects.

These positions will pay from $120.00 to $150.00 per month for a nine months' term.

Dr. Armacost, Director of the Bureau of Recommendations, requests that students see him if interested in any of these positions.

Having a name like William L. Williams is slightly repetitious, but one finds nothing repetitious in Bill's personality. Bill's friendly manner and "hail fellow well met" spirit have from early days made him popular among his classmates. He was Vice-President of the "Thespians" and Hi-Y, President of Princeton, Virginia's High Honor Society, and Secretary to the Student Council. He claims he was always traveling to various conventions.

For a year Bill was a pre-Med student at the University of West Virginia. Then for three years he worked at various jobs. When his family moved to Norfolk, Bill enrolled at the Division, where, he wisecracks, "life began". He was managing Editor of the High Hat, a Lab assistant at Norfolk, and a member of a honorary scientific fraternity.

Lemon cokes, saddle shoes, sports jackets, and college, are Bill's "likes" and he is so good natured it is hard to believe he has many dislikes. His favorite hobby, he admits it unconsciously, is wisecracking. His philosophy—"Never take life too seriously, because you never get out of it alive!"

Here at William and Mary, Bill is a science and psychology major and he plans to get his Master's Degree in Psychology.

Bill's enthusiasm and record of jobs well done should prepare him to meet any problems war may bring to William and Mary.

W-M Chorus Gives Concert April 30

William and Mary Chorus will present a concert on Sunday, April 30, at 8 P. M. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The program will include the "Agincourt Song," an Early American Group, excerpts for Handel's "Messiah," "Good Wives of Pioneers," and "Hindemith Martinslied." The number, "Good Wives of Pioneers" was written by Mr. Allan Sly and has just recently been published.

WAR IN BRIEF

If you're a budding sociology major or one of the many who is keeping up with current events just to impress the uniformed, opposite sex, you'd welcome the idea Randolph-Macon has. In their Main Hall is placed a huge map stuck with pins and colored ribbons. Every move of the Allies and the Axis troops is represented for the benefit of the passing students—evidence of the war in brief.

Martha Washington offers some quotes:

"I've written a song about those Navy boys. It's called 'I Don't Know Whether I'd Rather Be Fencin' With An Ensign or Roamin' In The Gloamin' With A Yeoman.'" And another one.... "that job in the department store was in the music department, but it's not for me. They wanted me to change the sheet music on the baby-grands".

C'EST LA GUERRE:

Comes a dance also comes the problem of the theme for it. Down Chapel Hill way they have a "Bare-foot Bounce". Check your shoes at the door and make with the calluses. Gentlemen with the largest hoofs and belles with the smallest pedal extremities win prizes.

The "Diaper Pin" Ball at Chapel Hill calls for the men to wear those three-cornered pants made from sheets and girls dressed as if under five years may ride tricycles, bring blocks and lollipops. War does strange things to college life.

Movie of the week: "My Butler Fell In The Paint" or "How Green Was My Valet".

And then there was the one about the little kangaroo who ran away and left his mother holding the bag.

Club Notes

The following new officers were elected April 16 for the Westminster Fellowship Group which meets Sunday nights from 7-8 at the Presbyterian Church: Moderator, Eleanor Heyer; Secretary-Treasurer, Peggy Potter; Representatives to the Student Religious Union, Janet Miller and Mary Ellen MacLean; Social Service Chairmen, Sharon McCloskey and Betty Cranston; Program Chairman, Rachel Lyne; Publicity Chairman, Lucile Burbank; Social Chairman, Emily Scott; and Refreshments Chairman, Edith McChesney.

Following the installation of these officers and the encouraging of each to fulfill her duties and responsibilities by Mr. Charles Pratt, the Presbyterian minister, there was a social period with refreshments.

A game room to include ping pong, darts, and shuffleboard, is now being built for the students to enjoy at the conclusion of their meetings.

Longest Professorship Held By Dr. D. W. Davis

Worked In Marine Biological Lab.; Has Done Research In This Field

By CONNIE CONWAY

At William and Mary longer than any other professor now on the faculty, Dr. Donald Walton Davis first came to the College in 1916. Since that time he has become known and loved by literally thousands of students for his innumerable stories, and his invaluable efforts to teach real research work to the biologically-bent.

Of Quaker stock, Dr. Davis was born in Chester County, Pennsylvania, and studied in a one-room school there as a boy. Known even then for his independence, Dr. Davis entered Westchester State Teachers' College as soon as he graduated from grade school. There he received the equivalent of a high school education, combined with some college work. After graduating from Westchester, Dr. Davis entered Harvard, and received his A.B. degree in three years. Running a farm summers, working as an assistant in the famed Marine Biological Laboratory in Woods Hole, Massachusetts, left Dr. Davis little time for any real relaxation, but he managed to participate in some collegiate athletics.

After he received his Bachelor's degree, Dr. Davis went out to California where he was an assistant instructor in Zoology at the University of California, and later an assistant at the Marine Biological lab near La Jolla.

Returning once more to the East, Dr. Davis worked for a time with the great Dr. E. B. Wilson making psychological preparations, and later taught in several New Jersey high schools and Sweetbriar College. Wanting to continue his education, Dr. Davis again studied at Harvard from 1909 to 1912, and a Ph.D. degree was conferred upon him in February of the next year.

From 1912 to 1914, Dr. Davis taught at Clark College in Worcester, Massachusetts, and from 1914 to 1916, at DePauw University, Greencastle, Indiana. He was called here in 1916 as head of the Biology department; and, with the exception of two years while he served in the last war, and two short vacations, Dr. Davis has scarcely left the campus.

A devoted, but admittedly not expert, tennis player, Dr. Davis claims that tennis is much more of a relaxation to him than a long walk. When walking, he comes upon so many biological specimens, that his mind is in continual activity, dwelling on just how and where he could use the specimens in some of his courses. Tennis relaxes his mind, and he comes from a game refreshed, and ready to start work again.

Dr. Davis has done much research in various biological fields, and one of his greatest contributions to biology students has been his teaching of various research methods to them. He has published several short articles, as well as his Doctor's thesis, and would do more writing for publication, if

Minutes Of Student Assembly

The Student Assembly of the College of William and Mary held a regular meeting Thursday, April 20, 1944, at 7:15 P. M.

Mary Wilson Carver, Acting President of the Student Body, called the meeting to order.

The minutes were read and approved.

Fraternities On Campus Are Active Organizations

Phi Pis Cooperate Kappa Taus Help To Mail Flat Hats Wams In Work

By TERRY TURNER

Last fall Phi Delta Pi, a local fraternity, was founded by six national fraternity men for the purpose of bringing a taste of fraternity life to incoming students who would not otherwise have such an opportunity. It will function as a local social fraternity for the duration of the war, having been recognized as such by the school authorities. Since it was first organized, Phi Delta Pi has grown to be a very active organization on the campus, with a membership of thirty enthusiastic brothers.

The fraternity's first major project was a complete success. With an intense publicity campaign, they raised enough money to send hundreds of FLAT HATS each week to former William and Mary men who are now in the armed forces. This drive terminated with the Sadie Hawkins dance, November 3, 1943.

Phi Delta Pi has given much time lately to the construction and painting of a colorful bond booth, now used by the Wams. The fraternity has co-operated with other campus organizations, particularly with the Wams. In February, new pledges gladly lent their time and service to the local Red Cross chapter, helping them pack kits for the men overseas.

In December, the fraternity gave one private dance; this semester they have given one dance and are planning another. The fraternity is limited to three social functions a year.

In the field of athletics, Phi Delta Pi has done its part to make the program a success. Besides having many men on varsity teams, the fraternity has entered teams and individuals in intramural games.

A brief summary shows that Phi Delta Pi has become an active and influential organization at William and Mary. In every field, campus activities, political matters, social functions, and in athletics, they have been a dominant force. The fraternity, although still young, is now widely known on the campus. It is still growing, still improving, and still striving to help the school.

Seniors Discuss Plans For Dance

Mary Wilson Carver called a meeting of senior class March 16 at 7 P. M. in Washington 200. A committee, consisting of Winnie Gill, Sunny Trumbo, Sally Snyder, Jeanne Mencke, and Marge Retzke, was appointed to discuss the selection of a class gift. Suggestions for the gift were made at the meeting.

The question arose as to whether or not the class was going to give a senior dance. If such a dance is held, it will be a substitute for the Finals which were formerly held at the conclusion of each school year.

Priscilla Schumacher was elected class poet at the meeting and Miss Alyse Tyler, Alumni Secretary, urged each member of the class to check up with her as to whether or not they have paid all of their alumni dues during their four years in college.

Me and My Bunx

MONDAY — Vacations are charming, but they always seem mollified in comedy on Monday morning. I've always been intimidated with this first down-in-the-earnest day of the week. It's almost an enormous thought to think of those other six almost unmarked days just living a hurried kind of existence waiting for Monday and some serious thinking about all the misquotations and sins of the week-end. Anyway, I think Mondays are tremendous and especially after vacations.

TUESDAY — The Other Bunk has again become bitter about Psychology 876—R. It has something to do with making the dollar go as far as possible, or a reasonable facsimile. She is working on a most impersonal case study about Freddy Magarlandgreen, who couldn't make an honest dollar. The question is, Dr. T—, just how did his father make $40.00 as a Hod-carrier, and Dr. T—, just what did he drink all up—the Hod or the $40.00? Or is that another story? Anyway, Freddy and the Other Bunk seem to have mutual cares on their minds and nothing seems apparent to either one of them. We all understand, of course, that any confusion that may arise from textual incongruity can be blamed on the Other Bunk's bitterness with the entire case.

WEDNESDAY — The Happy Bunk's Mexican Rain Gods are causing us all kinds of piffle and counter-piffle these days. At no time, claims the Happy one, may they be moved or large leaks will appear in the sky to repute any Easter bonnets that might be left over from last week. For three days now I've been sleeping with one of them and I don't want to suffer anymore. I'm too young to suffer. At least I told the Happy Bunk that, but she said I wasn't and the least I could do would be to leave it there until after her date tonight. Therefore, I shall be patient for love and other odd views the Mexicans enjoy.

THURSDAY — She's done it. Yes, all by herself the Happy Bunk suggested that it be cut, and then without any advanced prompting, she applied the shears. The Happy Bunk has a reputation for having things come out right without being aware of it. The hair is engaging and full of old world enchantment quite noticeably. She's a good child that whistles around the week-end, and we love her short and beautiful.

FRIDAY — Whoopee! Hooray! I received a veritable flood of letters from the boy in the blue. It was impossible to read most of it, for he went on in his usual glib tongue manner on impossible subjects that have all been cut out by numerous censors. Oh well, he succeeded in raising my great enthusiasm which had me completely out of control all day.

SATURDAY — We gotta look on the BRIGHT side.

SUNDAY — There's nothing but sun around here.

Students Are Prohibited From Swimming In Lake

By WILLIAM TRACY

Dr. George H. Armacost, Dean of Men, in making a dual announcement to the FLAT HAT, stated that the swimming pool in Blow Gym is now open to all civilian men students between the hours of 4:00-5:30 P. M. daily, and that swimming in Lake Matoaka is positively prohibited to College students. Mixed recreational swimming in Blow Gym is to be conducted each Sunday evening from 7:30 until 9:45 P. M.

College Forum Held April 22

Because it is the youth of today that has most at stake in the world of tomorrow, MADEMOISELLE held a day-long College Forum on Saturday, April 22, from 9:45 A. M. to 5:30 P. M. in the Chanin Tower Meeting Room, 122 East 42nd street, (50th floor), in New York, to discuss the political and social problems which will shape the postwar world.

Professor Ralph Barton Perry, Harvard University, Chairman of American Defense - Harvard Group, and of the Universities Committee on Post war International Problems, served as chairman of MADEMOISELLE's College Forum. The morning session discussed America's political and economic relations to the rest of the world and was addressed by Dr. Hans Simons, Dean, School of Politics, New School for Social Research; Quincy Wright, Professor of International Law, University of Chicago, and Professor J. B. Condliffe of the University of California, now at the Yale Institute of International Relations.

Foreign Students Give Views
Outstanding young women students of political science and international relations in the leading eastern colleges and universities participated. In addition, students from eight foreign nations—Great Britain, France, Russia, China, India, Mexico, Germany and Japan—gave their views on America's postwar relations with their own countries and the part that students can play in freeing the world from fascist domination.

Congressman Voorhis Speaks
The Honorable Jerry Voorhis, member of Congress from California, spoke at the midday luncheon session at the Hotel Commodore on methods by which young women can express themselves in terms of political action in a democracy.

The afternoon session, which purposed to demonstrate that democracy cannot function by default, was addressed by Charles Edison, former Secretary of the Navy and Governor of New Jersey, who told how young women can—and must—actively participate in making democracy work. Raymond Gram Swing of the Council of Democracy; Olive McKay of the League of Women Voters, and William Agar of Freedom House reported the activities of their respective organizations in working toward a functioning democracy, while student representatives from Smith, Vassar,

Recently, with spring seeming to be well on the way, some students have taken the opportunity to go swimming in the lake. Although this may have been done innocently enough and without thought of danger, it might be wise to note that the water of the lake was proven unsanitary in a competent analysis last year. The College biology department is making a survey at present which will probably be available by the end of this week.

Dean Armacost further stated that the College assumes no responsibility for those swimming in the lake. Stumps, which are plentiful on the bottom of the lake, add to the danger of possible injuries; and the fact that there is no guard of any sort on duty is not to be forgotten.

Dr. Armacost says that "the College accepts no responsibility for students boating on the lake." At one time, students were required to pass a test concerning the handling of boats, but this has become impossible for the present. College boys have been seen of late rowing some pretty shaky looking craft with boards and various other sundry implements. It may be well to recall a recent news item which announced the deaths of three boys by drowning in the James River, in the locality of Richmond; they had been enjoying a similar pastime.

There is no definite or plausible reason for the continuation of our local "lake antics." The College is now offering great recreational swimming opportunities in the campus pool under the safest of conditions.

Arrangements have been made for women students to use the new side of the gym for dressing and the men are to be provided for in the old. Although it has always been unpleasant to use the nasty phrase "shipped home," it is well to remember that this treatment has been administered in the past to those who persisted in their "back to nature" policy.

Radcliffe, Wellesley, Swarthmore and Mount Holyoke discussed existing college efforts toward that end. Student discussion followed all three sessions of the Forum which was opened, summarized and closed by Professor Perry.

Newport News Wins 20th Tidewater Track Meet

9 To Take Instructors Course Here Red Cross Gives Swimming Tests

Between April 24 and 29 Mr. George R. Lewis will be at William and Mary to give the Red Cross Instructor Course in both First Aid and Swimming. Mr. Lewis, who is the National Red Cross representative for this district, will spend 15 hours giving instruction in swimming. The girls who will take this course have had 15 hours of preliminary practice and instruction under Miss Jackman. Those taking their final course to receive the Red Cross Instructors Certificate are: Jerry Willyard, Virginia Turner, Ruth Sinclair, Betty Jane Relf, Ann Leutenkirchen, Ruth Kaplan, Emily Goldberg, Suzanne Braude, and Daphne Andrews.

Mr. Lewis will give First Aid courses from 3 to 6, Monday through Saturday. From 7 to 10 on the same days, the Red Cross representative will direct the girls who are working for their Instructors Certificate.

Phys. Ed. Dept. Is Separated

ment. The department will be separated into two divisions: the Department of Physical Education for Men, and the Department of Physical Education for Women. The heads of these two new departments will be Mr. Kenneth Rawlinson and Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, respectively.

The office of the Dean of the Faculty has announced a change in the present Physical Education Department.

Correction!

The statement made in the April 19 issue of the FLAT HAT that Mr. Dwight Stuessy would leave for Auburn is contrary to fact. Mr. Stuessy has stated that he did not intend at any time to go to Auburn.

William and Mary's Cary Field was the sight of the twentieth annual Tidewater Track and Field Meet last Saturday. The meet proved to be, as expected, one of the best in the history of the Tidewater classic.

The Gold and Blue cindermen of Newport News won their sixth straight title by rolling up an impressive 53 points to beat out its serious contenders, Maury of Norfolk and Thomas Jefferson of Richmond.

Ball Murals In Full Swing

The Intramural Softball Tournament which started last Wednesday is now underway, with two games having already been played.

Wednesday evening, Kappa Tau played the Wolves, but the game was called at the end of the sixth inning on account of darkness, with the score tied 7-7. The Kappa Tau's, behind 7-1, came through with six runs in the sixth inning, the scoring outburst being marked by four-masters by Greg Mann and Jack Lawson, both with two men on base. Only Tommy Smith's sensational catch of P. D. Reynold's sharp drive towards right-center field kept the KT's from scoring the winning run. The tie will be played at some future date.

In contrast to Wednesday's close ball game, was the one-sided massacre of Monroe Hall by Phi Delta Pi (Continued on Page 7)

Early morning activity saw Granby's Blue Comets gain an early advantage when Lizana and Summs took firsts in the shot put and high jump. Lizana's mark was 45 feet 6 inches while Summs tied with Torr of Oceana at 5 feet 6 inches. Thos Jefferson and Newport News moved into the spotlight in the next three events. The Typhoons got two firsts on Hawks's 162 foot javelin heave and his first place toss in the discus.

T. J.'s Stoneburner beat Avery of Newport News in the pole vault at 11 feet 2 inches, then cleared 11 feet 4 inches, but missed at 11 feet 6 inches. Maury's second place team, after a very disappointing start moved up in the point scale in the afternoon. Led by Allen who got three first places, both dashes and the broad jump for 14 points, the Commodores moved from next to last place to second. Thomas Jefferson also made a game bid with Miller and Perkins running one-two in the 440 and the T.J. mile relay team coming in first. However, with the exception of Cousen's win in the mile run everything else went to Newport News.

Captain Avery, who also tallied 15 points, cruised to wins in both the high and low hurdle events, while Forrest, Theodorsen, and Miller, all of Newport News, dominated the 880.

Three men defended their titles in the meet successfully: Lizana of Granby in the shot, Cousens of Maury in the mile, and Avery of Newport News in the hurdles, although the latter was hard pressed by Snell of Thomas Jefferson.

Hampton High School entered a full team of 19 men, but failed to score a single point. This is the first Class A school to fail to score in a number of years.

Despite the fact that 10.5 was the time in the 100, a faster time was made by Bridge of Newport News who won his heat in 10.4.

Frank Dobson did an excellent job as head starter, while quite a number of faculty and town men did fine jobs as timers and as the heads of events.

Gold, silver and bronze medals were given to the first, second, and third place men in the finals, while a big team cup will be given to Coach Julius Conn of Newport News for his team's championship performance.

TENNIS, TRACK ENTRIES DUE

Kenneth Rawlinson announces that all tennis entries must be turned in by Thursday, April 27. All track entries must be in by May 4. They may be handed in to Mr. Rawlinson, Austin Wright, or to the Physical Education Department.

Chandler, Gamma Phi Take 1st Place In Swimming Intramurals Fri., Sat.

Hutchins and Hogg First In Diving

Swimming intramurals took place in Blow Pool on March 21, and 22, with Chandler Hall winning for the dormitories and Gamma Phi Beta for the sororities.

On Friday night, March 21, the dormitories met and Chandler Hall took first place in every event except diving, giving them a total of 24 points. Jefferson was second with 14 points and Barrett third with six points. The events were 40-yard free style, 40-yard breast-stroke, 40-yard racing back, 80-yard relay, and diving. Swimmers for Chandler were Ricki Goldberg, Jean Taylor, Lucia Cosby, and Dot Day. Swimming for Jefferson were Sue McGeachin, Joan Smoele, Tony Lester, Helen-Marie Borden, Eleanor Westbrook, and Dorothy Parr. Erma Milstead, Nancy Carnegie, Edith Horn, Virginia Dunston, and Jane Hogg swam for Barrett.

Last Saturday afternoon the sororities competed. Gamma Phi Beta came out with 20 points to seize first place. Chi Omega came in second with 16 points, Kappa Alpha Theta was third with 14 points, and Delta Delta Delta took fourth place with 11 points. The events were the same as those in the dormitory meet. Swimming for Gamma Phi Beta were Jean Ferebee, Sally Ann Rife, Ginny Bourichel, Barbara Hutchings, and Ellie

Wright. Jerrie Healy, Flossie Metius, Glo Rankin, Mary Wilson Carver, Fran Smith, Ruth Thistle, Daphne Andrews and Margie Oak were the swimmers for Chi Omega. Swimming for Kappa Alpha Theta were Audrey Smith, Sugie Hartnell, Hannah Leonard, Harriet Irvin, and Maureen Gothlin. Barbara Mitchell, Mary Shipe, Luella Fitzgerald, Peggy Horn, and Charlotte Anderson swam for Delta Delta Delta.

In the dormitory meet 5 points were given for first place, 3 points for second place, and 1 point for third place.

Dance Group Prepares For Recital May 4

Students Compose All Choreography

Rehearsals for the annual recital given by the William and Mary Dance Club are nearing completion, as the 35 members of Orchesis and Dance Group prepare for the celebration of National Dance Week. This program, under the direction of Miss Arlene Jackman of the Physical Education department, will be presented at 8:30, May 4, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

Choreography for these dances is original and has been in progress since last semester. Composition was completed before spring vacation. Since that time the group has been rehearsing the dances in Phi Beta and the Great Hall, smoothing out the rough spots and finishing everything for actual presentation.

Dance Club is composed of two groups: Orchesis, or the more advanced students; and Dance Group, the beginners. New members were chosen last semester and again this semester by girls in Orchesis who observed modern dance classes and special tryout classes in Jefferson gym. The new members were honored at a tea in Barrett living room.

Officers of Dance Club are Jeanne Mencke, president, and Florence Metius, secretary-treasurer.

Wams Ask For Paper, Tin Cans, Junk Jewelry

City Trucks Collect Paper On Wednesdays; Servicemen Letters Laud Jewelry Collection

Miss Tully, Assistant Director at the U.S.O., announced that there is a great demand for scrap for use as wampum in the South Sea Islands. The collection of junk jewelry in the Wigwam has not been as successful as it should be. Weekly the U.S.O. sends large boxes of jewelry to naval bases in these faraway places. The War Council is co-operating with the U.S.O. in collecting this scrap in the large jar in the Wigwam use for this purpose.

Heads Elected By Red Cross

5 Officers Selected; Exhibit Shown May 6

Nancy Carnegie, Chairman of the Red Cross Chapter on campus, announces the following committee chairmen which were appointed at a chapter meeting held last Saturday afternoon, April 22: Chairman of Home Nursing and Nurses' Aide committee, Charlotte Dickason; Chairman of Production, Jan Miller; Chairman of Staff Assistants, Laurie Pritchard; Chairman of Publicity, Deeks Phipps, and Camp and Hospital Chairman, Betty Marie Ellett.

All afghan squares are to be turned in by the first of May so that they can be put on exhibit May 6.

"In the near future," Nancy states, an exhibit on the work our Red Cross Chapter has done will be shown."

New Wam Canteen Opening Saturday

Open house at Blow Gym will be sponsored by the War Council every Saturday and Sunday night from 7:30 to 10.

A large variety of amusements will be offered at the Wam Canteen. They include bridge, ping pong, magazines and other reading material, and a large collection of records with a victrola for dancing. Swimming and a food booth will also prove popular features.

Mary Lou Manning, who is in charge of this War Council project, states, "I hope that I'll see you all, with or without dates, at the Wam Canteen Saturday night."

The U.S.O. has received requests for this wampum from Seabees in all parts of the South Seas. Letters from servicemen prove that there is a real need for the wampum exchange especially on islands where natives attach little or no value to money.

A welfare officer requested a shipment of the discarded jewelry, too, in the following letter:

"Our unit is based on a South Pacific Isle where there is opportunity for trading with the natives. We read of your very gracious offer to forward wampum for this purpose to the Seabees stationed out here."

Paper, including newspapers and old magazines, is collected by the city on every other Wednesday. Dorm representatives should collect the paper, and see that it is put in a neat pile on the sidewalk across from Jefferson on Jamestown Road. This is necessary because our campus is not in the city limits, and the truck will not collect it here. In case of rain they will pick it up on the next sunny day. Sorority salvage representatives should put their paper on the sidewalk at the entrance to sorority court, on Richmond Road.

Tin cans, which must be washed and flattened, are to be taken by dorm representatives to the Wigwam, but the sororities may place them in a box near their trash cans, and the city garbage man will collect them.

There is a box in each dormitory and house for cancelled stamps. The government still needs these postage stamps because the dye and paper can be reused. Letter savers are requested to go through their collections, and remove the stamps for this worthy cause.

The U.S.O. authorities expressed thanks for the past donations from the college students and hopes that the Wams will be able to enlarge their collections.

Committee Forgets Goal Buy Stamps and Bonds At Y.W. Bazaar

At the last meeting of the Student Assembly, the Point System Committee, headed by Bill Williams, presented a plan whereby the Assembly would control clubs and organizations on campus. This plan involves an amendment to the Constitution; so it is being held over till the next meeting before action will be taken.

The committee that submitted this proposal was originally designated as a Point System Committee. But in no place has mention been made of the Point System. Instead, the proposal is one which is aimed at the control of club organization and membership, leaving the question of office-holding still in the air. What has happened to the original purpose of the committee?

Considering the plan solely for what it is, we approve it as a theoretical solution to the existing problem of do-nothing clubs. Standards have been set up and will be enforced by an Interclub Council made up of the Presidents of all clubs, the vice-president of W.S.C.G.A., and a chairman and a secretary elected by and from the Assembly.

Because of the new requirements for membership, the personnel of a club will be cut considerably. This should serve to weed out those persons in an organization who do not attend the meetings regularly and do not contribute materially to the club's progress.

Those clubs that can't meet the requirement that at least seventy-five percent of the stated meetings be held will have recognition withdrawn on recommendation of the Interclub Council. This should serve to eliminate those clubs that have been existing in name only. Those persons who have not attained at least a C average in the field of a special interest club, will be forbidden membership in the club.

But the real question, the question of the Point System, still remains unsolved. With the qualifications for membership in clubs being raised, the responsibility of leadership is going to fall on the same small group again.

When a person proves himself capable of shouldering responsibility, naturally he is going to be elected to the head positions. But if he is not willing to draw the line for himself, to say "no" when his responsibilities become too great, then we need a Point System to draw the line for him. We assumed that the Point System Committee was interested in the Point System. Is it?

Death Comes To Orchestra

Although probably not many know it, the College is mourning the slow but very sure death of its concert orchestra. Once an active and thriving organization of about thirty or forty members, it has become a straggling group of a number varying between ten and fifteen, with about five really faithful members able to be counted upon as regular attenders of rehearsals.

To those who have enjoyed the orchestra at its height, this is a terrific blow. That a school of this size cannot find sufficient personnel to maintain an orchestra is amazing. A fairly large group attended the first rehearsals of the year; then, one by one, they dropped out. With the entire group present, it becomes a pleasure to take part. But with only a smattering of the instrumentation there, balance within the group is destroyed. Who wants to come and play in an orchestra that sounds bad and worse each week, instead of good and better? Fault lies either with the music department or with the students themselves.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

On page sixty-three of the current college catalogue there is a statement regarding a gymnasium fee. All students are charged five dollars. That is not what we are complaining about; we don't mind that, but we do expect something from it. We realize that there is a war going on, and that college life can not go on as usual, but why is it that the students can have hardly any recreational facilities. Quite often during the past few weeks when the pool was supposed to be open the door was locked and many students who wanted to swim had to do without this recreation. Also when students wished to use basketballs and other equipment the office was locked and they could not obtain them. There is a regular time set aside for student recreation and the students try to take advantage of it, but there is never any equipment to use for that purpose.

We do not want to sound as though we are griping, but we do feel we should have what we are entitled to. We hope the athletic department will be able to comply with our wishes.

Very truly yours,

Regulation On U.S.O. Workers Seems Severe

By JERRY HYMAN

This past week in general was a typical lazy spring week, enlivened to a small extent by the visit of some of the ex-ASTU boys now stationed around here. Although the campus was thus not upset by any large issue, several small sources of irritation have been further irritated by recent events and are rapidly growing in importance, so they can not be overlooked.

Fraternities Set Up Rules For Rushing

A formal set of rush rules were drawn up by the representatives of Phi Delta Pi and Kappa Tau fraternities at an interfraternity meeting April 24, in order to avoid any conflicts in pledging for next year. Phi Delta Pi was represented by Russell Quynn and Tom Thornton; Kappa Tau, by Bill Britton and Aubrey Mason. This agreement was fostered by the suggestion of the administration.

The rules are as follows: 1. There shall be free and open intercourse with all men students during the summer; but there shall be no fraternity talk or extension of formal pledge bids. 2. Formal rush week shall commence one month from the opening of the first and second semesters of the winter session. 3. Each fraternity shall be limited to $25 for each formal rush week. 4. The last night of formal rush week, formal written bids will be sent to the prospective pledges, who will sign the bid for their preference, and return it the following morning to the president of that fraternity. 5. For the remainder of each semester of the winter session, bidding by each fraternity may be made at any time. 6. These rules are subject to revision at any time by mutual agreement of the two fraternities.

Want A Job? Watch Your Step

more important to get a foothold in a good organization with future possibilities than to start off with airs in a position that can lead to nothing. If, however, you are the kind of person who is happiest where the pace is unhurried, where competition is not too keen, then the all-important point to bear in mind is satisfactory environment.

More waking hours are likely to be spent in the place you work than in any other single spot. If the setting and personalities with which you are surrounded are definitely disagreeable to you, the job itself will have to be remarkably engrossing for you not to develop an inner resentment which will sooner or later leave its physical and emotional mark on you. It is important to like the place you work and the people you work with—and for them to like you!

If the proffered job has neither future nor environment to recommend it, it may still be worth considering. If, for instance, it offers an opportunity of getting some specialized experience, which will have future resale value elsewhere, it might be well to take it for a limited period, as one takes an extra course of study or seizes an opportunity to serve a short-term apprenticeship in a chosen field to get practical experience. Keep in mind that you and your services are like a piece of merchandise to be marketed. Your potential employer is out to buy the very best merchandise he can for his money and needs. The more you can improve what you have to offer, the greater your eventual value will be. Your prospective employer will eye you carefully to see if you look to him like a good investment. Unfortunately in this

Also several important improvements that deserve comment have been made recently. The gym is now open on Saturday and Sunday nights for dancing, pingpong, badminton, cards playing and swimming. Although it is still early to judge just what success this will meet with, it is something the students have asked for and have wanted. It remains to see how much we will use it.

Also, the outside lounge of the Wigwam is now being kept open. The new door which permits the lounge to be shut off from the main part of the Wigwam has been installed, and the lounge is open until eleven for late dating.

A great many students have complained about the time the Wigwam is closing. The Wigwam seems to be on its last lap. Patronage has fallen to what is probably a new low, and it is now closed at night after 7:30. I, frankly, don't know what can and should be done. The idea of student employment which I and others originally advocated, seems to have been shelved. Evidently, the management feels that it's a lost cause now, since the receipts have fallen so low. But, if anybody has any ideas, suggestions, or thoughts that might be of help, now is the time to voice them.

There has been a great deal of criticism of the recent regulation that College girls can work at the USO club and at the various church breakfasts and suppers for servicemen only if they have a minimum of twenty-one quality points. This is a subject I know little about, but I would not hesitate to say this regulation is rather severe.

I am in the deepest sympathy with the attempt of the College to raise the academic standards of the students, but this does not appear to me to be a good or straightforward way to achieve this goal. As long as other extra-curricular activity is not limited as strenuously as this, I can not understand why this important activity should be.

From what information I can obtain, the girls have done a job which has been greatly appreciated by the servicemen and those citizens of Williamsburg in charge of such activities. To require girls to have more than one-third B's before they can devote a few hours a week to this work is to put in an almost prohibitive regulation. This requirement is above student body average; so, approximately half of the girls on campus will be disqualified usually.

On the whole subject of work of this type, I have never understood the prohibition of work at the USO club on week-ends, but, evidently, the College deems it advisable to protect the girls.

Last week, I wrote about the need for administration-student cooperation. Here is one place there is a definite need for it. The girls are not satisfied with the new regulation; obviously the College authorities weren't satisfied with the old one. How about some cooperation and a compromise?

present-day rush for employees when the supply of jobs is greater than the demand for them, standards become relaxed.

But the day of reckoning will surely come. There is bound to be a tremendous weeding out, when business wheels are turning steadily again. The all-around girl, with ability backed up by good grooming and a pleasant manner, will be the survivor.

Is that you?

Beth Snyder, editor of the Midland College (Fremont, Neb.) newspaper, was discouraged with the way her reporters turned in copy after the deadline. So she issued the paper with blank spaces where stories assigned to reporters should have been.

This item isn't in the wartime tradition at all. A man is replacing a co-ed as sports editor of the Evergreen at Washington State College. Ruth "Tommie" Thompson, journalism sophomore, resigned to devote more time to her studies. Harry B. Dooley, business administration freshman, is the new appointee.
